"Welcome to St James' Park"

We welcome Bolton Wanderers to St James' Park and hope that we can get revenge for the narrow defeat at Burnden Park in the match that was switched due to the weather conditions. Bolton have had a good season to date and will present strong opposition to us, although we seem to play better against the higher clubs.

I am pleased to see that, all being well, Tom Kelly and Peter Cawley will have come through Saturday's reserve match and will be having another run tomorrow. If all goes to plan they will be back in contention for first team places. The form of Darran Rowbotham who played the whole of the second half, at Valley Parade was very encouraging for both the player and ourselves. Darran has quickly regained a good level of sharpness and has swiftly managed to rid himself of any doubts that he would be able to make a full recovery from the terrible injury. That news compensates for the bad hamstring injury that Jim McNichol picked up at Bradford.

In the light of events around the club may I just ask everyone to rally round and support Exeter City. Your response to me has always been great, I hope that will always be the case.

Diary...

WITH DOC

MONDAY 18TH MARCH - Ben Rowe signs for Dorchester Town. City to get 50% of any future transfer fee. Paul Eshelby still with Scarborough on trial. Richard Young is sacked by manager Terry Cooper.

TUESDAY 19TH MARCH - Ivor Doble loses his appeal with Football Association. I am sure that everyone would like to thank Ivor for all his hard work and generosity. He has a genuine love of Exeter City and he will be badly missed. This indeed is a sad day for all at the football club.

WEDNESDAY 20TH MARCH - Uncertainty reigns at the club as City travel to Bradford City. First twenty minutes Bradford swarm all over City and we are two goals down. Much better second half. Terry Cooper particularly pleased with Darran Rowbotham. Jim McNichol picks up hamstring injury and could be absent for some time.

THURSDAY 21ST MARCH - Final figures for our Sporting Dinner how we made a profit of £1,200 plus the money raised for the ball on behalf of Ottery St Mary Youth. A very encouraging return for our first 'mixed' dinner. Important meeting held in the evening with Peter Carter and Clifford Hill at the Royal Clarence Hotel. On a lighter note Lottery Manager Graham Sparks (39) is training hard for the half-marathon but Team Manager Colin Wheatcroft is concerned about Sparko's lack of pace!

FRIDAY 22ND MARCH - Peter Carter, Clifford Hill and myself meet to discuss the future of Exeter City. Several options are under consideration, our decision must be for the benefit of the club and avoid supporters suffering further heartache. Tony Kellow has arranged a Golf Day at Crediton on April 12th. MIKE HOLLADAY

BOLTON WANDERERS

The past two decades have seen Bolton Wanderers as a see-saw team who have performed between the First and Fourth Divisions. their last year in the top flight being 1980.

Bolton were one of the twelve founder members of the Football League. Formed in 1874 the Wanderers were originally known as Christ Church before the present name was adopted three years later, a name that was to become one of the best known in English football. It was a further 21 years before the club moved to Burden Park from their original homes at the Park Recreation Ground, Cockles field and Pikes Lane.

When the FA Cup Final moved to Wembley Stadium in 1923 Bolton Wanderers were the first winners in front of a crowd estimated at 200,000 with a further 500,000 locked outside. This, of course, was the famous match with the pitch invasion and the lone white horse. David Jack scored one of the goals that beat West Ham 2-0. The Roaring Twenties belonged to the Wanderers as they lifted the trophy twice more in 1926 and 1929 and twice finished third in the First Division. Five players – unbeaten goalkeeper Dick Pym, right back Bob Haworth, half backs Jimmy Seddon and Harry Nuttal and outside right Billy Butler collected three winners medals.

Their next trophy, however, did not appear in the cabinet until 1958 when the Munich ravaged Manchester United were defeated 2-0. Apart from the four victories the club have been runners up three times in 1894, 1904 and the famous 1953 final, to this day known as 'The Matthews Final', when a 3-1 lead was transformed late in the game to a 3-4 defeat by a combination of Stanley Matthews brilliance and injuries to two players.

In the Football league Bolton enjoyed an unbroken First Division spell from 1911-1933 and again from 1935-1964. On the debit side the club dropped in the the Third Division for the first time in their history in 1970 although they bounced back as champions two years later.

First Division status was regained at the end of the 1977/78 season when Bolton were Second Division champions after finishing a frustrating fourth for two consecutive seasons. Regrettably the Trotters could not hold their position for long and came crashing down in 1980. Worse was to come in the form of relegation to Division Three in 1983 and, for the first time, to Division Four 1987. The fight back from that calamity was reversed when promotion was gained after just one season. Since then the club have settled into the Third Division.

May 1986 did provide some relief for their supporters as the club battled to Wembley, the scene of previous triumphs, in the Final of the runners-up this time as Bristol City, managed by Terry Cooper, ran out winners. In 1989 they were back at the grand old stadium to face Torquay United in the, by now named, Sherpa

Van Trophy. Old memories stirred as a 4-1 victory was gained. the record attendance at Burnden Park is a staggering 69,912 versus Manchester City in 1933. The present capacity at the stadium is just 27,500.

Since the Second World War the Trotters had 12 managers before Phil Neal took over the chair, thus far it has not been unlucky thirteen as, under the former Liverpool and England defender, the club have gained promotion from the Fourth Division and since been well placed in the Third Division. This season sees the club well in the running for a Second Division place. The see-saw goes on – at the present time in the upward motion!

Current President of the club is Nat Lofthouse, surely the most famous of all the international footballers who have graced the ranks of Bolton Wanderers. Nat Lofthouse has also managed the club, but is primarily remembered for his bustling centre-forward play that netted 255 goals in the league alone. Additionally he scored 30 goals in 33 appearances for England and gained his nickname 'The Lion of Vienna' after one memorable performance in Austria. Another England International, goalkeeper Eddie Hopkinson, holds the record for Football League appearances with 519 between 1956 and 1970/

Welcome then to Bolton Wanderers, they may be some way from the triumphs of the 20's and 50's, but they are in the ascendancy! Good luck to them!

the club still reached a play-off position before losing out to Notts County. As Phil does not reach for the Phyllosan until next week and as his team are again going well the prospects are high for both of them.

Phil Neal was born in Irchester in 1951 and joined Northampton Town where he played 186 league matches and scored 29 goals before being picked up by the Liverpool scouting system. He became a fixture in the side over many seasons playing 455 league matches and netting a further 41 goals. Phil was renowned for his attacking full-back play, also netting a further 5 goals in 50 full international appearance for England between 1976 and 1984.

He joined Bolton as a player and notched up a further 56 games and 3 goals before taking over the manager's chair from Charlie Wright in 1985.

JUNIOR 5-A-SIDE

We were delighted with the response to our appeal for local junior 5-a-side teams to represent us and we can now report that we should be competing at all levels in the SW heats at Bath on 5 May.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE

The NFFSC Annual Conference will be held in Glasgow on the 7, 8 and 9 June 1991. As members, we are entitled to send delegates to the conference to vote on our behalf.

The conference takes place in the 3* Swallow Hotel, which is situated on the South Bank of the River

Clyde. In addition to the conference, a visit has been arranged to Ibrox Stadium. You may be aware that this ground was one visited by Lord Justice Taylor during his fact-finding tour of football stadia. It is also, of course, the home ground of our own Chris Vinnecombe.

We would be delighted to hear from any members who would like to represent the Exeter City Supporters Club at the conference. More details available from

The Secretary,
21 Wentworth Gardens, Exeter
(Tel : 431287 - Evenings only).

MASCOT

Our competition for the Bury mascot proved very popular. Our congratulations to the winner, Anthony Sutherland. I'm sure he had a great day.

Travel news

The travelling supporters who ventured to Bradford's Valley Parade last Wednesday will no doubt agree that it was only the brilliance of 'man of the match' Kevin Miller that saved us from a very heavy defeat. The rumours of a players strike in support of Ivor Doble seemed to have been carried unanimously by our defence in the first half.

Looking ahead we have just four matches remaining this season. The first of these is next Monday's trip to Rotherham, which was reviewed in last Saturday's programme. Tonight will be your last chance to book for this game on the Supporters Club coaches leaving Exeter at 9am. Fare £11.

Bookings can also be made for the two 'back to back' games at Crewe and Tranmere. Once again the Football League computer proves to be a wise investment - after three consecutive home weekend games we are away for two Saturdays. Fuller details of the arrangements for these matches will be in the Wigan and Shrewsbury editions of 'The Grecian'.

Monday 1st April Rotherham Kick Off 3pm. Fare £11. Depart 9am
Saturday 13th April Crewe Kick Off 3pm. Fare £9. Depart 10am
Saturday 20th April Tranmere Kick Off 3pm. Fare £10. Depart 9am.

Bookings can be made at 'The Near Post', before or after tonight's match.

Exeter City have always been good at finding West Country talent, but in the early eighties a youngster from Shepton Mallet called Gary Marshall slipped through the net. Gary was offered an apprenticeship at St James Park soon after leaving school, but recalls, "I wanted to get a trade under my belt, and I'd already started training as a cabinet maker. Chris Davey and Mike Radford, who were in charge of the Youth Development Scheme, were very understanding and kept me on as a non contract player, paying for me to travel down and play for the 'A' team in the Exeter and District League. At the end of the season, the club was in financial trouble needing to cut costs, and unfortunately mine was one of the contracts which was cancelled".

A slightly despondent Gary went back to his home town of Shepton Mallet, and played for them in the Western League. It didn't take long for him to catch the eye of a certain Mr Terry Cooper who was then manager of Bristol City. "I was still training to be a cabinet maker, so Terry signed me on non contract forms like I was on at Exeter. When I finished my trade apprenticeship, Terry offered me my first professional contract".

In his five year spell at Ashton Gate, Gary went to Wembley twice in the Sherpa Van Trophy. "I was substitute on the first occasion, but played in the second one against Mansfield. It was fantastic, I think every player's dream is to play at Wembley, and I was lucky enough to get there twice".

Whilst with Bristol City, Gary returned to Devon in a loan deal which took him to Torquay United. But he says, "I was never going to sign permanently for Torquay, Terry just sent me there to get a bit of league experience because I'd played mostly Western League football until then".

When Gary returned to Bristol, he established himself as a first team regular, and didn't want to leave the club when his contract came up at the end of the 1987/88 season. Gary explains, "I had agreed a contract with Joe Jordan who had taken over from Terry as manager, but the directors turned it down, so I thought it was in my best interests to get away”.

The next stop for Gary was Carlisle United, where he teamed up with former Bristol City assistant boss Clive Middlemass. Gary remembers, “Clive was one of the first managers to phone me after I had turned down my contract at Ashton Gate, I had a chat with him and decided to give it a go even though Carlisle is at the other end of the country”.

Gary's spell in Cumbria was relatively short, but he says, “It was really good up there, the people were very friendly and I was enjoying my football. Then after my first season, I came back from holiday and Clive phoned me to say that Scunthorpe were interested. He explained that he was going to start the new season with a sweeper system using just one winger, so he told me that if I was interested to go and talk to them, if not to report back for pre-season training as if nothing had happened. I decided that I wanted regular first team football, there were a number of Wingers at Carlisle, so I went to talk with Micky Buxton at Scunthorpe”.

After having talks with the Scunthorpe manager, Gary agreed a £0,000 move to Humberside. “I really enjoyed playing at Scunthorpe, the pitch and new stadium were brilliant. I think these purpose built grounds are a good idea, especially for the clubs that are struggling for money, they can clear their debts and have brilliant facilities. Glanford Park is also maintenance free for the first ten years, the idea's bound to appeal to Fourth Division clubs”.

Gary had no inkling that Exeter were going to put in an offer for him until just before he signed. “The week before I joined I had been out of the side because Micky Buxton, like Clive Middlemass, was trying out the sweeper system. I think Terry had enquired about me earlier in the season, and at the time Scunthorpe were playing with two wingers, so Micky Buxton wasn't prepared to let me go. But once he had started playing with a sweeper I was surplus to requirements. It was a very good move for me because I still had my house in Weston Super Mare, and I had enjoyed myself under Terry Cooper's management at Bristol City”.

Gary had a bit of a shaky start with the Grecians, missing an open goal on his home debut against Tranmere, carried off in his second game away at Southend and limping off in his third against Grimsby. “I was a bit disappointed, because when you come to a new club you want to make a good impression, and getting carried off in two of my first three games was a bit hard to stomach. But since I've been back in Exeter, it's been like a breath of fresh air, it's a shame we haven't put a better run of results together”.

“Nobody's really given us a good hiding, we've lost quite a few games by the odd goal which is disturbing, but if you look at the side it's one of the youngest in the division. I've got no doubts that we'll do well next season, and people will probably laugh when I say that promotion is still not beyond us now. You can never write a season off, obviously I'd prefer to be in the top half of the table and not have to pull out all the stops like we've got to do now to get up there”.

He may have only played twenty-one games for the club, but already City fans can recall Gary hitting two of the finest goals scored by an Exeter player in recent years. Firstly he produced an emphatic run and shot for our opener at Shrewsbury and then that magnificent chip for City's first goal of 1991 against Crewe. These goals serve as reminders that when Gary Marshall says he intends to pull out all the stops in the last ten games of the season, we may just be in for a little more excitement than some people think !

THE GRECIAN WOULD LIKE TO THANK GARY MARSHALL FOR HIS HELP IN COMPILING THE ABOVE ARTICLE.

5.7! Gary is stopped in his tracks against Bury.

We have unfortunately had to compile this review of Third Division events prior to the results of last weekend's fixtures being known. There was, however, a full midweek programme of games, with all but four of the division's sides taking part.

Monday night saw promotion hopefuls Southend and Tranmere both shake off the challenge of play-off aspirants. The Shrimpers reaffirmed their position as Championship favourites with a 2-1 win over Leyland Daf Southern Finalists Birmingham. Lou Macari's side went in ahead at half-time thanks to a 37th minute strike from Nigel Gleg-horn, but two goals in as many minutes from David Martin and Brett Angell gave the home side victory in front of a 6,328 crowd.

Should Birmingham defeat Brentford in the Southern Final, their opponents at Wembley look certain to be Tranmere Rovers. The Birkenhead side have hit form at just the right time, and a twelfth minute Shaun Garnett goal was enough to give them victory over ninth place Bournemouth and temporarily take them into fourth place above Bury.

The Shakers were involved on Tuesday night in a crunch derby match at third place Bolton. A slightly disappointing crowd of 9,006 turned up for what was a disappointing night for the homesters, 1-0 down at half-time and 3-1 down after ninety minutes thanks to a hat-trick from Summer buy John McGinlay. Scott Green had pulled one back for Bolton after 64 minutes, but McGinlay secured the three points with his third, six minutes later.

Cambridge and Brentford played out a goalless draw at the Abbey Stadium, both sides are well placed in seventh and eighth respectively with games in hand on all of the sides ahead of them. Immediately above them are Huddersfield, and their 4-0 win over Rotherham - three of the goals coming in the last fifteen minutes - keeps them well in touch with the leading group. Rotherham, on the other hand, appear to be in ever increasing trouble at the bottom of the division, they now find themselves six points adrift in twenty-fourth place.

Stoke kept their promotion hopes alive with a 1-0 win at Fulham thanks to a 75th minute goal from Wayne Biggins. Mansfield went down 3-1 on the Preston plastic, but there were much needed wins for Crewe, 3-0 at home to dreadfully out of form Swansea, and Shrewsbury, also 3-0 and also at home to a side struggling for results, namely Leyton Orient.

All of this serves to send Fulham and Mansfield into the relegation zone, and with them both having played two games more than Crewe and Shrewsbury, they will be looking for improved form in their last twelve matches.

And so to the only game of Wednesday night, Bradford's 3-0 win over City at Valley Parade. The Bantams certainly looked like a side with promotion ambition, and there are a dozen others who will be harbouring hopes of a place in next season's Second Division.

Southend, Grimsby and Bolton must still rank as favourites, but the Trotters' two recent defeats will provide encouragement for Bury, Tranmere and Cambridge in particular. However, Huddersfield, Brentford and the five sides below them will be still be hopeful of a place in the play-offs. It seems that, until after the Easter games anyway, there is no such things as mid-table obscurity in this season's Third Division !

TONIGHT'S MATCH MASCOTS

Exeter City will be led on to the pitch by Paul Dunstan of Barnstaple. Paul won the honour in a competition in the Western Morning News by answering three questions correctly. Nine years old, Paul attends Ashleigh Primary School and his support is torn between Exeter City and

....Plymouth Argyle! He plays football and is a budding Kevin Miller. His favourite player is Gary Lineker. We will feature a photograph of Paul in his City kit in the Wigan programme.

Also here tonight representing Bolton Wanderers is Peter Simmons of Cheddar.

SPORTING DINNER

As already stated the Sporting Dinner last week was a great success, making a profit of £1,200. What was important was the attendance of a lot of new faces. The really gratifying part was the abundance of favourable comments afterwards, suggesting that Exeter City events have got a new strain of support. This compensated for the lack of numbers from our recognised bodies of support, which, to say the least, were most disappointing. We want to boost our income, indeed we need to boost our income, from commercial activities and the support we most need is from the regular supporters of City. So, come on, make a point of supporting us next time we put on such a good event.

Gordon Hobson, the 'Sponsors Man of the Match' after the match with the managing director of 'The Express and Echo', Martin Gower.

MUSEUM PIECE

From 30th March to 27th April there is an exhibition of Exeter City Football Club at the Royal Albert Memorial Museum, Queen Street, Exeter. Following the club's highly successful championship victory last season the museum is to make its first venture into sport. Photographs, memorabilia and other interesting items will be on display, highlighting the championship season. Videos will be shown and there will be an Exeter City Quiz to enter. The museum is open from 10am Tuesday – Saturday. Make sure you pay a visit.

OVER THE YEARS ON 26th MARCH

Eighty-one years ago today, City faced Luton Town here at the Park, and 7,000 spectators were in attendance to see the Bedfordshire outfit win 2-1. That proved to be our only Southern League fixture on this date, and our first Football League encounter on March 26th was against the same opposition. City fell to a 3-0 defeat on that occasion, our seventh successive defeat, which is a club record that has been equalled three times since, most recently in 1984.

In 1927 we were faring rather better than six years earlier, but again we lost on this date, 3-1 at Aberdare Athletic, who were voted out of the Football League just two months later. Our opponents in 1932 have been very much more in the media spotlight than Aberdare in the last twelve months, Swindon Town. Again the game ended in defeat, 2-1 on this occasion.

In 1937 Bill Owen netted a penalty for us at Ashton Gate, but the 10,000 crowd saw Bristol City win 2-1. A year later ... and a point at last! We travelled to Cardiff and shared two goals with the Welshmen, James Liddle on target for City. Another 1-1 draw resulted in 1948, when 15,833 were present at the Park on Good Friday to see promotion chasing Bournemouth denied both points by an own goal. 1949 brought a third successive 1-1 draw, this time Swansea Town the visitors. Top scorer Doug Regan netted our goal, in front of another impressive audience of 13,000.

This day in history

Bournemouth again visited us on a bank holiday, this time on Easter Monday in 1951, and goals from Smith and Hutchings were enough to seal City's first win on this date. At last! Crystal Palace inflicted a 1-0 home defeat a year later, and Leyton Orient romped home 5-0 in 1955 to bring us back down to earth. Our first Fourth Division fixture on 26th March also saw us fail to score, opponents Aldershot winning 1-0 in 1960.

City's Irish international Dermot Curtis grabbed the only goal of the game at Workington 26 years ago, and it was to be another twelve years before we played on this date. In 1977 we again faced a long trip to the Cumbrian coastal town, and again we returned home the victors. Just 1,395 were present to see one goal from Nicky Jennings and two from Tony Kellow see City to a 3-1 success, the first of eleven wins in thirteen matches which took us to promotion. Sadly, this proved to be Workington's last season in the League.

In 1979 Keith Bowker scored our goal in a 1-1 draw at Mansfield, while the following year brought another 3-1 away victory, this time at Chester. Tony Kellow netted a penalty, and Ray Pratt scored the first two of his 61 league goals for the club. Sealand Road proved to be a lucky ground for Ray, as he scored in each of his three appearances at the ground, netting a hat-trick in our 3-1 win there in 1985.

Pratt was also on the scoresheet eight years ago, popping up to score the winner against Bradford at the Park. In goal for City that day was Peter Shepherd, making his only appearance for the club, while making his debut for the club was loan signing David Crown, who also scored, in our 2-1 win. The run of successes continued two years later, with a 3-2 success at The Shay. City were behind at half-time, but our first goal had been scored by a certain Jim McNichol.

On March 26th 1986 at the Park, goals in the first four minutes from Warren Ward and Steve Harrower were cancelled out by two strikes from visitors Torquay within half an hour, and the score remained unchanged in the second half. The attendance at that game, just 2,420, is the smallest ever to have watched a competitive fixture between two of Devon's League clubs. Our most recent game on this date was at Gresty Road, where we earned a point from a goalless draw against Crewe, leaving us with an impressive record of five wins and three draws from our last eight games on this date, and only two have been at home as well!

Dear Grecian

As Treasurer of the Devon and Somerset branch of the Manchester City Supporters Club I was very pleased to hear of Steve Neville's Testimonial Match. As you can imagine we all travel many miles to watch Man City, so any local match is a welcome relief.

Hopefully there will be a big turn out as Steve Neville has seen sterling service for Exeter City. Many of our branch members count Exeter as their second favourite team (myself included) and try to get to St James' park for midweek matches and vacant Saturdays.

As you may know our branch played your Supporters Club team at Honiton in the summer - an event that will hopefully be repeated on a regular basis.

There is a thriving branch of the Manchester City Supporters Club based in the South-West - for details please phone Will Linsdell (0837) 82219 or Tina Kenny (0935) 31318.

"Already, CCTV has had a major impact on the hooligan problem inside football grounds as well as proving extremely useful to monitor safety measures. If any trouble appears on the screen or is reported from any quarter of the ground, the CCTV can zoom in on the incident. The police can then record what occurs on colour video and on hard copy prints. Individuals can be picked out by facial appearance and the colour of their clothing. The evidential effect of such a video recording has proved formidable. It has persuaded hooligans, who would previously have sought to challenge oral evidence of identification, to plead guilty. Hooligans know cameras are keeping a roving watch and their activities in the ground are inhibited by that knowledge."

Seeing is believing!

That's what so many people say to me when as a christian I share my faith, "Show me and I'll believe."

I always find that a rather strange statement when all around us are things that we can neither see or really understand. The wind, for instance, I know it's there, I feel it's touch when it blows, but I can never see it and where does it go to?

One of my favourite T.V. programmes is the Paul Daniels Magic Show, his performance is really something special, the tricks are brilliant, and we sit watching to see if we can work out how they are done.

Seeing is believing, yet we know that his magic is just a trick, a sleight of hand, yet many people are amazed at what he does.

So why say the same when it comes to thinking about God, especially at this time of the year, when all of us will be celebrating Easter, the Christian festival that marks the centre of all that Christians believe.

Just a trick? I don't think so.

After Jesus had been killed, the religious leaders were so convinced that the disciples were going to try and steal the body that they ordered a guard to be put on the tomb. These men saw with their own eyes the resurrection on the first Easter Day. They saw but did not believe and were easily bribed to spread a pack of lies! They saw but did not believe!

Why don't you take a few minutes this Easter to think about the reasons for your celebrations.

God Bless.
Richard.

EARLY BLAST SHOCKS CITY

BRADFORD CITY 3 EXETER CITY 0

The savage treatment of chairman Ivor Doble by the Football Association seemed to have reached the players as City went two goals down inside the first quarter of an hour against a rapidly improving Bradford side.

The first half clearly belonged to the Yorkshire team. The Exeter defence was caught out in the ninth minute by a Sean McCarthy through ball that allowed Steve Topely loads of room to place a shot wide of Kevin Miller. former Plymouth striker McCarthy was to relish his new midfield role throughout this match and just six minutes later he headed home a Paul Jewell cross that Lee Sinnott helped on.

Exeter were being out-battled in midfield and the defence was struggling to match the pace and skill of the Bradford front-runners. Miller made several notable saves in this game and further added to his fast growing reputation as one of the best young goalkeepers in the country. How long before the offers come in I wonder?

Paul Batty did bring a point blank save out of Paul Tomlinson, the comparatively unemployed Bradford goalkeeper, but it was a small oasis in the desert for the visitors.

Darran Rowbotham replaced Trevor Morgan at half-time it coincided with a spell of Exeter pressure. However City suffered a double blow in the 56th minute. Jim McNichol overstretched trying to cut out a long ball and as he lay helplessly on the ground Jewell nipped in to score. Lee Rogers came on as the second substitute.

Jewell missed a great opportunity immediately afterwards when he unselfishly tried to set up Babb and allowed the steady Shaun Taylor to clear. In the 71st minute Batty headed against a post, summing up City's night of frustration. Bradford meantime moved into a good position to challenge for a play-off place.

After the match City boss Terry Cooper was disappointed with the performance. "We are giving away too many early goals away from home. Kevin Miller did well to keep us in the game. We did better in the second half and had a couple of chances but the injury to Jim McNichol finished us off".

A full house enjoyed a good meal followed by three speakers of quality, Ian St. John, Roger Milford and Johnny Walker. Praise came from all quarters and it is certainly the standard that we will strive to retain for future events. A profit of £1,200 was made and additionally a football signed by the England team was auctioned and the £140 was split between Exeter City and Ottery St. Mary Youth Development.

Commercial Manager Mike Lewis and speakers Roger Milford and Ian St. John have a chat with Ivor Doble on what was to be his last function for Exeter City before his suspension was effective.

Paddy Brennan was the successful bidder for the signed England football. Proceeds split between Exeter City and Ottery St. Mary Manager Terry Cooper and most of the first team squad enjoyed the evening – most of it away from the bar area!

THANK YOU IVOR

It was with stunned disbelief that the Exeter City staff heard the news last Tuesday that chairman Ivor Doble had failed in his appeal against the 12-month suspension imposed upon him by the Football Association. For weeks there had been an air of confidence that the sentence would be suspended, allowing Mr. Doble to continue the job of chairman that he had done so well since reluctantly inheriting the post.

Commercial deals had been set up to significantly improve the financial situation at the club, but against this background was the nagging worry that affected all the staff – what would their future be? Despite this the club soldiered away as bravely as possible.

The man who took most of the strain was Ivor Doble. It is to his credit and his wife Vera, that they rarely allowed the stress of the situation to surface to the staff. He was still there, visiting the offices with time for everyone, a quiet word of encouragement, a gentle coaxing of better efforts.

Despite their troubles Ivor and Vera attended the Sporting Dinner just two days before the hearing and, as always, carried out their duties on behalf of the club in a perfect manner. It was always reassuring to know that the chairman was always there to support any function that helped Exeter City Football Club.

Forgetting all politics it is quite obvious that Ivor Doble is held in very high esteem by the great majority of people around St. James' Park. Certainly all the staff found him to be an excellent chairman. That sort of reputation is earned, you cannot fool all the people all of the time as they say. To back up the staff the clear signs of affection shown by the crowd towards Ivor were there for all to see. It would be terrific if the supporters could be reassured that Ivor Doble WILL be back when his year's suspension has been served.

Ivor and Vera Doble pictured at the Sporting Dinner at Exeter Golf & Country Club

it seems amazing that such an important appeal hearing could be concluded in under 15 minutes. Were the letters of commendation from some very important people totally ignored? Was Exeter City considered? What if the club had been one of the First Division big boys?

Well, that's all academic. What we can do is simply say "Thank you Ivor" for service carried out in a dedicated way. Exeter City always came first. All the real supporters of the club are aware of that and would like to think that we shall again be on our feet in March 1992 to welcome you back.

PETER SLATER

Tonight the Western Morning News is pleased to sponsor the Match Day Mascot, for one of the more attractive matches on the St. James' Park fixtures list in this most eventful of Exeter City seasons.

To older City supporters, the name of Bolton Wanderers is synonymous with the First Division and, currently, manager Phil Neal has set the Trotters on course for a possible return to the higher reaches of the Barclays League.

Let's hope we in the Press Box have a good match to report for tomorrow's sports pages and City fans throughout the West Country.

Just over a month ago, I speculated in this column how the so protracted Park "financial mismanagement" affair had affected Terry Cooper's bid to put City in the promotion frame for a second consecutive term. My feeling was that a lengthy wait for the Football Association to arrive at a final outcome over the off-pitch events of previous seasons had left the club in limbo.

I considered:

Crucial decisions that needed to be made were being postponed. The club was losing the momentum, if not the sense of direction, that many had worked so hard to achieve after long years in the Division Four doldrums. Andy City's Division Three rivals had not been slow to take advantage of the uncertainty, tempting not only the popular Danny Bailey away, but also unsettling the best manager the club has ever had.

My appeal to the FA was to allow the dust to settle at St. James' Park, and to give Exeter City the opportunity to restore the unity and purpose that had been acquired under the successful leadership of Ivor Doble and Terry Cooper. Some hope.

In little more than the 10 minutes it takes players to consume their half-time oranges, an FA board of inquiry last week managed to rip out part of the club's very heart by confirming a year's suspension from soccer for chairman Ivor Doble. I accept the FA initially found there was a case to answer, and that the FA felt that some directors should be punished for a breach of a misconduct rule they have always strenuously denied.

But the scale of the penalties the FA has imposed on directors attempting to do their best for the club they love and have poured money into, smacks of sheer vindictiveness.

Look at the facts:

The club complied with Devon County Council recommendations aimed at making the ground safer for you, the supporters, and a great deal of work was carried out at comparatively little cost.

The Football Grounds Improvement Trust happily accepted a £27,000 cheque from Mr. Doble's own pocket in settlement of grant claim discrepancies and considered the whole matter closed.

Director Murray Couch and Mike Holladay took their punishments on the chin, Mr Couch selflessly resigning in a bid to help Mr. Doble's appeal. What more could the FA want.

Mr Doble's head, apparently, even knowing the effect it would have on the club. I remain disturbed about a number of points concerning Mr. Doble's abortive hearing, not least the FA ban on the introduction of any new evidence and on the chairman addressing the panel himself.

Is this really how a supposedly responsible body should be conducting its affairs in the latter part of the 20th century?

If the courts of law applied the same rules the Birmingham Six would still be in prison today.

Finally, the length of time the panel allotted to a matter that would severely affect not just Mr. Doble, but the whole of Exeter City Football Club was not far short of insulting.

The phrases "indecent haste" and "cut and dried" stick in my mind.
